1938 GREETINGS!

It is a pleasure to know that our painstaking efforts in presenting our catalogue to you in the past has been appreciated.

Your fine response in placing orders has demonstrated your confidence in us and is one of our most valued possessions.

We will do everything possible in the future as we have in the past to merit your continued patronage. We enjoy hearing from our customers, how their dahlias grew. How they won at the various shows, and having them visit our gardens.

Very truly yours,

MR. AND MRS. RAY E. CURTIS

— :- :—

IMPORTANT!

In making up our 1938 catalogue we are forced, on account of space, to be very brief in our descriptions. We have discarded those that did not perform satisfactorily and have added many new ones, that we grew in our garden or were recommended by reliable growers in different parts of the country.

We are listing many foreign varieties, which seem to be very popular.

We will appreciate your filling in the form on back of order sheet and sending to us.

— :- :—

SPECIAL INFORMATION!

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY—

Avoid disappointment by ordering early. Quantities are very limited on some varieties and you will be assured of the best selection by making prompt reservations.

Remittance may be made in the most convenient way when sent with order. Or if desired, 25 per cent when order is placed balance to be paid at time set by you for shipment of stock.

On all orders less than $2.00, add 10c for postage. All orders $2.00 and up delivered prepaid.

GUARANTEE—All roots or plants sent to customers are guaranteed to be true to name and from healthy parent stock and to grow if given reasonable care on arrival and after planting; We are ready and willing to replace any that should prove otherwise.

INFORMATION on Green Plants and Growing Dahlias

ECONOMY BUYING PLANTS—

Dahlia plants are becoming more popular each year, not only because they are much more economical to buy but usually produce larger flowers.

EXPERIENCE—

Our many year's experience growing and exhibiting dahlias proves to us that dahlias grown from plants that are propagated and grown right are superior to those grown from roots usually producing larger and earlier flowers.

PROPAGATION—

We propagate all our plants in a well ventilated greenhouse, growing them as cool as possible, therefore producing healthy and husky plants. Growing them cool does not make the largest plants but they make up for it when planted.

We are very firm believers in growing the young plants in three inch clay pots as we know the plants grown in pots dry out quicker than in boxes. The watering and drying out process is surely very beneficial to plant life.

SHIPMENT OF PLANTS—

Our plants are weather hardened for at least ten days before shipment. Packed in special boxes they are guaranteed to reach you in good growing condition. We have shipped to nearly every state in the Union.

PLANTING AND CARE OF GREEN PLANTS UPON ARRIVAL—

Green plants should be immediately unpacked upon arrival and should be watered and then removed from paper pot: Then soak the dirt from the roots and straighten them out. This is not necessary but you get better clumps. Then carefully plant, setting plant so that the top of the ball of soil is about three inches below the ground level. Plants should then be watered thoroughly and covered with a basket or crate for a few days as a partial protection from the sun and wind. Water the plants every day for a few days and then every two or three days for a week or two. The hard crust that forms around plant after watering should be carefully broken up as soon as soil is dry enough to work. If cut worms are around, plants should be protected by placing a collar made of heavy paper about three inches wide around them, setting collar about one inch deep in the soil.

STAKES—

Five or six foot stakes should be driven in ground about three feet apart one way and two or three feet the other before setting out plants. That protects them from being tramped on by both children and dogs. Then as your plant grows the stake is there to tie the plant to.

TIME OF PLANTING—

Dahlias should not be planted before the ground becomes well warmed by the sun in the Spring. May 15 to 30 is about the right time for most locations, although they can be planted as late as June 20 with good success.

PLANTING AND CARE OF ROOTS ON ARRIVAL—

Upon arrival tuber should be planted at once if ground has been prepared for them, providing soil is not too wet to work. If soil is not ready, they should be very carefully taken out of the box in which they arrived, taking great care in handling so that the eyes or sprouts on tubers will not be broken off. They should then be put into a larger box of some kind laying them flat in the bottom, and then entirely covering them with two or three inches of moist sand, sawdust, or soil, in order to keep them from shriveling or drying out. They should then be removed to a cool place in the cellar and left there until ready to plant. Drive stakes before planting roots the same as with the plants, three feet one way and two or three feet apart the other. Then holes should be dug about six inches deep at the base of each stake and a root planted in each hole with the eye end next to the stake, laying them perfectly flat. UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD THEY BE STOOD ON END. Then place about two inches of well pulverized soil over each bulb but do not fill hole clear up. Wait until the plant makes some growth and then fill hole up as the plant grows up. Allow only one sprout to grow from each root. If more than one comes up, save the best one and pinch the others off. As the sprout grows, it should be tied to the stake to keep it from being broken off by heavy rains or wind.

PREPARATION OF SOIL—

The soil should be thoroughly spaded and well pulverized before planting and if poor, some well-rotted barn yard manure or common fertilizer should be well worked in. Dahlias do not need very rich soil.

FERTILIZERS—

In the fall if possible cover your garden with some barn yard manure or sow rye and then in the spring after it becomes six or twelve inches high plow it under, that provides humus of the best kind. Before planting scatter about 5 lbs. steamed bone meal and 5 lbs. of wood ashes over the ground that will be occupied by about forty dahlia plants.

About the first of August scatter a good big handful of steamed bone meal and two of pulverized sheep manure around each plant keeping about six inches from the stalk of plant. August 15th repeat the treatment.

WATERING—

Dahlias like plenty of water and should be soaked every ten days, and oftener while in bloom. Always cultivate well after watering as soon as the ground is dry enough to work in order to loosen up the crust that has formed. You can easily overwater when plants are young, but you cannot over-cultivate them. It is better not to water than to allow a crust to form after watering. As buds form on the plants, they should be removed as soon as they appear, up to August 1. The idea is to grow your plant first, and then let it bloom.

PINCHING BACK, OR TOPPING OFF PLANT—

When the plant shows three or four sets of leaves, we advise pinching the top off, just above the top pair of leaves; this will hold the plant back a week or two, but it will make the plant grow more robust and vigorous, and give many more, heavier and better branches than would of been had, had the plant been allowed to grow naturally. While this is not necessary on low growing plants, we urgently advise it on all tall growing plants.

DISBUDDING FOR LARGE OR EXHIBITION FLOWERS—

There is no trick or secret in disbudding to get the large blooms one sees at the shows, or in the gardens of the Professional grower, it is all so very simple, if directions will be followed. When the buds begin to appear at the tip of the branch, they usually appear in clusters of three and when these are about the size of a pea, we take out the two side ones, and leave the center bud to grow alone. If by chance one of the side buds is larger, or looks healthier than the center one, then take out the center bud, and the weakest or smaller of the side buds. With this done we then stay on this branch and go down to the last set of leaves on this same branch, and take out the two small branches, or laterals as they are called. These, as a rule, are small, as they are just beginning to sprout out from the node, or joint where the leaf is growing from. We do this right down on all of the leaves on this one branch until we get down to the last set of leaves; these we allow to grow. This not only gives a large flower, but also a longer and stronger stem. Continue this application on all side stems of the plant.

SPRAYING—

During the hot days of summer, insects or pests such as Aphids, Thrips, Leaf Hoppers, Green Flies, Cucumber Beetles, etc., are more or less prevalent and dahlia plants are generally attacked by them. If any of these pests should be noticed on or around the plants they should be sprayed at once with a good insecticide. It is generally best to spray before any insects appear rather than to wait until they make their presence known. In the latter case, many times, the plants are so debilitated or stunted from the ravages of these pests that spraying will be of little help. We have found the best way to hold these pests in check is to start spraying the plants at regular intervals of about two weeks, starting in when the plants are about six inches high. We are using Red Arrow.

DIGGING THE BULBS—

Late in the Fall after heavy frost has blackened the tops. Dahlias should be dug and removed to a frost proof cellar for storage during the winter. The digging must be done very carefully as the single bulb planted in the Spring will now have made a large clump. The clump should be loosened from all sides and then carefully lifted, taking great care so as not to break the necks of the bulbs. Any cellar that potatoes can be stored in successfully will be all right for Dahlias. They must be kept cool and away from heat, otherwise they will start to grow again if the cellar is too warm. If the cellar is equipped with a furnace, the bulbs should be removed as far as possible from the heat, and covered over with some light material such as straw, sand or sawdust. Soil is all right provided it is dry.

DIVIDING THE CLUMPS—

In the Spring as soon as the eyes or sprouts begin to show the clumps should be divided. To do this, first split the clumps by cutting through the stalk with a good strong pocket knife or short bladed butcher knife if you have one. Then cut each half in two, trying to divide the bulbs so that each one will have a piece of the stalk with an eye or sprout attached to the bulb. The eyes are all formed around the base of the stalk, there being none on the bulbs, so in dividing, great care must be used to see that each bulb has a piece of stalk with an eye on it attached to the bulb, otherwise they will not grow.
